DETAILED ACTION

Restriction

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-4, drawn to a method of protecting humans exposed to sunlight against photo-aging and sunburn comprising applying to skin of a human a composition comprising caffeine or a compound structurally similar to caffeine.

Group II, claim(s) 5-6, drawn to a method of protecting individuals with heightened sensitivity to the sun from damage resulting from the sun comprising topically applying to the skin of an individual with a heightened sensitivity to the sun a composition comprising caffeine or a compound structurally similar to caffeine prior to exposure of the individual to the sun.

Group III, claim(s) 7, drawn to a pharmaceutical composition for prevention of photo-aging and sunburn comprising caffeine or a compound structurally similar to caffeine and a second sunscreen or free radical scavenger

The inventions listed as Groups I, II, and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features.

An international application should relate to only one invention or, if there is more than one invention, the inclusion of those inventions in one international application is only permitted if all inventions are so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (PCT Rule 13.1). With respect to a group of inventions claimed in an international application, unity of invention exists only when there is a technical relationship among the claimed inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features.

The expression "special technical feature" is defined in PCT Rule 13.2 as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. The determination is made on the contents of the claims as interpreted in light of the description and drawings (if any). Whether or not any particular feature makes a "contribution" over the prior art and therefore constitutes a "special technical feature" should be considered with respect to novelty and inventive step.

The common technical feature in all groups is a composition comprising caffeine or a compound structurally similar to caffeine. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art.

In this case, Schroer et al. (US Patent No. 3,957,994). teaches a composition comprising theophylline useful in the treatment of inflammation of the skin such as sunburn. As a result no technical feature exists among the different groups because the inventions of Groups I and II fail to make a contribution over the prior art with respect to novelty and inventive step, In conclusion, there is a lack of unity of inventions and therefore restriction for examination purposed as indicated is proper.

Rejoinder Notice

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP

Art Unit: 1614

§ 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
